Minimum 2 months

Dedicated to do voluntary service for the sustainability of the project by supporting and collaborating with local partners and/or local communities in planning, preparing, implementing and evaluating their activities. This activity is more of individual placement rather than in group. Sometimes there are 2 to 3 volunteers in one project. LMTV projects give opportunity for volunteers to experience, to learn new things, to interact with local people & culture for volunteers to develop personal & social skills. Many of GREAT LMTV project sites are also workcamp project sites. This is because GREAT acknowledged the important of combining both types of volunteering to be applied in one project site to achieve the goals of each IVS project.

NO camp leaders, possibly to work with local volunteers called peer volunteer in some project sites. The rests, vols are working with local partners/ local people.

Living with host family for purpose of exchanging experiences, culture, and mutual benefit among all people involved.

Shared room with other LMTVs. Mostly no need sleeping bag. Shared daily tasks: cooking, cleaning, washing dishes.

Locals are friendly and keep trying to speak Bahasa Indonesia and local language with vols. Relax and enjoy the connection. Take it as benefit to achieve LMTV project goals. Prepare yourself for many pictures!

Free days: 2 days in a week + 1 day in a month. The expenses for free day is NOT covered by GREAT.

Project

Supporting local organization in garbage management and river conservation.

Background

Citarum is the longest river in West Java runs over 300 kilometres from the Wayang Mountain to the Java Sea. There are 30 million people rely on the water source for agriculture, water supply, fishery, industry, sewerage, electricity, etc. However, unregulated factory growth since the area’s rapid industrialisation in the 1980s has choked the Citarum with both human and industrial waste. The 5 million people who lived in the river basin are directly affected. Over 200 textile factories line the river banks and contaminate the river with lead, mercury, arsenic and other toxins, changing its colour and lending the area an acrid odour. Moreover, the river is also polluted and filed with trash such plastic, styrofoam, even dead animals.

In cooperation with Bening Saguling foundation working in Citarum river basin and Saguling basin since 2015, GREAT started the IVS intervention since 2017. We work together in the community development program through education, social, economic, and environment conservation. By using the trash as their potential product for making “TRASH BANK”, they also take advantage from the water hyacinth weed (pollutant plant) by making handicraft from that plant. Now, the community have their own forest in the river basin where they conserve some variant of bamboo trees and other local trees. Their home based has become a learning centre for garbage management and water hyacinth handicraft.

Aims

- To support the foundation program in environment, social and education
- To help garbage management project
- To raise the awareness of environment and river conservation to local people
- To manage the organic farm with local people
- To organize a non formal education for the local people and local children
- To exchange cultures among volunteers, local people, and local students
- To spread out the idea of voluntary service and international workcamp among the local people
